

Madeira Embroidered Gowns at $1.00

Just 120 of these Gowns will be on sale Tuesday morning. They are made of longcloth, low slipover style, round yoke of Madeira embroidery, 3/4 sleeves, neck and sleeves finished with real torchon lace edge, drawn with ribbon; positively the best value ever offered for $1.

Miller & Rhoads

READY TO BEGIN COUNCIL INQUIRY

Pollock-Wise Matter to Be Taken Up by Committee Tomorrow Night.

Investigation into the charge that Councilmen Gilbert K. Pollock and George E. Wise accepted attorneys' fees for their influence in having the City Council pass an ordinance allowing dairymen to sell milk in Richmond obtained from cows fed on swill from distilleries began last night, when the special committee, composed of five members of the Common Council, met to-morrow night at 8 o'clock as the time for hearing witnesses. A stenographer will take the testimony.

Nineteen witnesses will be summoned to tell what they know about the affair. The investigation was begun as the result of a communication from Mayor Richardson to the Council requesting that certain witnesses be summoned and the matter be probed. The Council then adopted a resolution authorizing President Peters to appoint a special committee composed of five members to dig deeply into the charges against Messrs. Pollock and Wise for the purpose of finding out the facts.

Went City Attorney There. It was decided last night that City Attorney H. R. Pollard be present at the hearing and examine witnesses. Assistant City Attorney Anderson was present and requested that all witnesses named by the Mayor be summoned and others, if the committee deemed it necessary.

Councilmen Pollock and Wise were present during the proceedings, but they offered no suggestions and made no objections. The hearing will be in the Council chamber, in order that all who desire may hear the evidence. It is expected the probing will require several sessions of the committee. These witnesses will be summoned before the committee: James R. Gordon, Dr. E. C. Levy, Dr. F. M. Reade, Jacob Unkray, E. M. Noble, R. H. Curley, H. M. Moore, V. L. Lipard, George Drinker, J. L. Shum, L. H. Kemp, Jr., W. T. Taylor, J. W. Barnes, Thomas Feane, W. L. Brittle, J. L. Miller, A. C. Miller, J. H. Dietrick and T. H. Farrand.

All five of the investigating committee were present. They are W. Fred Richardson, chairman; T. H. Brown, John J. Lynch, Clyde Ratcliffe and Dr. C. N. Miller.

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals was in session yesterday, but no cases were tried. Judges Gott and Pritchard and District Judge Keller were in attendance. No cases were argued, but the court held a conference upon cases heretofore argued. The case of Nathan B. Bank, bankrupt, appellant, vs. the Michigan Paper Company and the Kalamazoo Paper Company, on appeal from the District Court of Baltimore, Md., will be argued to-day. E. Allen Sauerwein, Jr., of Baltimore, represents Bank, and Edward M. Hammond, of Baltimore, appears for the appellees.

"JUST LIKE PAPA"

Children Glad to Have Their Drink Like Their Parents.

More than any of the old folks realize, the little folks at the table like to have food and drink the same as Father and Mother.

Perhaps you can remember the time when a forkful of the meat or potato or a sip from the cup that your Father or Mother was using seemed to possess some remarkable merit and flavor.

If children can be given a strong, nourishing food drink such as Postum it satisfies their desire to have things like the older folks, and at the same time gives them a drink they love and attend on.

A lady up in Oakes, N. D., says that since their family have been drinking Postum the children are stronger and better than ever before, and are so glad that they can have coffee to drink "just like papa."

The husband and father was taken sick with a very severe attack of stomach trouble and had to give up work, being confined to the house for some weeks, suffering greatly. For some time he had been in the habit of drinking coffee for breakfast and tea for dinner and supper. The wife writes: "After reading some of your advertisements we wondered if coffee and tea had not been the cause of his sickness."

"We finally decided to have him quit tea and coffee and try Postum. He dates his recovery from the time he commenced to drink Postum, and has not had to stop work from sickness since then."

"Some years ago I tried a package of Postum and did not like it, but I know now that it was because I did not make it right. It is easy to make good Postum if the simple directions on the package are followed. The only failure is when people do not boil it long enough."

Read "The Road to Wellville," found in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

"BELL DAY" WINS BIG SUM FOR HOME

Women Secure Total of About $3,500 for Work for Incurables.

KIND WORDS FOR WORKERS

Men Who Bought Bells Spoke Kindly of Charity and Its Work.

With a few "preludes" yet unheard from, it was estimated late last night that a total of $3,500 was raised yesterday as the result of "Bell Day" for the Home for Incurables. Of this sum $3,250.87 was in hand in cash.

Mrs. R. M. Pulliam, the general chairman of the "Bell Day" committee, was much gratified at the success of the efforts in behalf of the home. The day's receipts will be sufficient to carry on the work for about six months. The money was really needed. The home had practically no money. Its endowment is small, and the work, it was felt, could not be abandoned. The people of Richmond responded to the call in a way that indicated popular interest in the cause.

"Let no man escape" was the motto of the women, who stood in the streets all day. No one got away. The committee members held the corners, camped in front of the banks, besieged the post-office, guarded the emporiums into which they were likely most to wander, made the passengers on street cars surrender, and saw that the denizens of the public buildings came across.

Not a word unfriendly to the cause nor to the efforts making for it was heard by the workers. Every one expressed the kindest feelings, and while nearly every man felt that a joke was coming to him when he gave up his coin, they were all jokes which denoted interest in the charity.

POLICE COURT CASES

Willie Coles Fined $20 for Running Gambling House on East Preston Street.

Willie Coles, colored, who was charged with running a gambling resort at 800 East Preston Street, was convicted in the Police Court yesterday morning and was fined $20 for the city's exchequer. He was also placed under $500 security for thirty days. Ten players who were caught in the house were each fined $5.

Arthur Mayo, colored, charged with assaulting and biting Anderson Ford, was sentenced to the reformatory for three months.

The case of D. W. Johnson, colored, charged with recklessly driving and injuring Charles Tyler, was continued to June 1.

Memorial Day Services. The Barton Heights Surviving Ground Association had its memorial day celebration yesterday. Delegates from all parts of the State are expected. Millard C. Robertson is grand dictator and Thomas Annie Hertzog, to Albert P. Hill presiding. Five hundred colored people were present, an association being formed to clean and beautify the cemetery. It was decided to hold memorial day services annually on Whit Monday.

Knights of Honor. The Grand Lodge, Knights of Honor of Virginia, will meet at Murphy's Hotel to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock to be in session throughout the day. Delegates from all parts of the State are expected. Millard C. Robertson is grand dictator and Thomas Annie Hertzog, to Albert P. Hill presiding. Five hundred colored people were present, an association being formed to clean and beautify the cemetery. It was decided to hold memorial day services annually on Whit Monday.

TRIAL POSTPONED

Captain Epps's Suit Against Street Car Company Comes Up June 23.

The suit of Captain George W. Epps against the Virginia Railway and Power Company was called to trial yesterday in the Law and Equity Court, and at the request of Mr. Smith, Jr., of counsel for the defense, it was postponed to June 23. The suit was filed in July, 1909, and is captioned for damages in the sum of $10,000 by reason of an injury received on July 27, 1908. Captain Epps was at that time a passenger on a Broad Street car and stepped from the running board to alight. As he was stepping back on the car it started forward suddenly and he was thrown violently to the ground, suffering several injuries, which crippled him for some time, and which even now necessitate his walking with a cane.

Marriage Licenses. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday in the Hunting Court to Frank Miller and Annie Hertzog, to Albert P. Hill and Jennie L. Webster, and to David E. Lewis and Magnolia Brockwell.

Merely a Personal Visit

According to Assistant Postmaster I. W. Full, Postmaster Edgar Allan, Jr., is not in Washington for the purpose of inducing Congress to relieve him of the responsibility of $16,000 worth of stamps and money which was not received when the Post Office and Marine were captured. Mr. Fuller stated that Mr. Allan is in Washington on personal business.

NEGRO SHOT OVER TRIVIAL MATTER

Daniel Brooks Is Dangerously Wounded by Harrison Beverly, and May Die.

In a quarrel over a trivial matter, yesterday afternoon, Daniel Brooks was shot through the abdomen by Harrison Beverly, also colored, who afterwards escaped. The shooting occurred on North Thirtieth Street and the police were immediately notified. Captain Barfoot, of the First District, led a squad of men to the scene of the shooting, and several houses were searched in vain for the assailant. But he had made good his escape, and up to a late hour last night had not been apprehended.

Brooks, dangerously wounded, lay where he fell after the shot, and the city ambulance was summoned to his assistance. Dr. Collins answered, and the negro was removed to the City Hospital. He is in a precarious condition, and may die as the result of the wound.

The city ambulance, with Dr. Womack in charge, was called out last night to attend another important case. Junius Smith, a negro hailing from Lynchburg, engaged in a quarrel with another negro on Seventeenth Street over the purchase of a drink. Smith refused to set "em up," and the other negro retaliated with a knife, cutting Smith through the left arm. He was attended by Dr. Womack, who sewed up the wound, but was able to return to his home.

CHARTER ISSUED

The following charter was granted yesterday by the State Corporation Commission:

W. B. Davis Brick Company (Inc.), Richmond, W. B. Davis, president; T. H. Davis, vice-president; W. B. Gordon, secretary; J. T. Sney, B. H. Cottrill—all of Richmond. Capital, Maximum, $25,000 to $20,000. Objects: Manufacturing bricks. A license to do business in Virginia was issued to the W. B. Davis Brick Company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New Jersey. President, Charles H. Richmond, statutory agent. Maximum capital authorized by charter, $100,000. Objects and purposes: Contracting and engineering business.

LOYAL ALUMNI TO REBUILD COLLEGE

Enthusiastic Meeting Held by Elder Sons of University College of Medicine.

DISCUSS THE HOOKWORM

Commencement Exercises Will Be Held To-Night, When Maj. Hemphill Will Be the Orator.

Plans for rebuilding the University College of Medicine, which was destroyed by fire some months ago, were undertaken by the alumni of that institution at its annual meeting, in the amphitheatre of the Virginia Hospital, last night. The plans were discussed with great enthusiasm, and thereafter the association decided to assume all responsibility for the raising of the necessary funds.

In the business meeting of the Alumni Association, the following officers were elected: Dr. H. G. Nicholson, of Charleston, W. Va., president; Dr. William Pilcher, Petersburg, first vice-president; Miss Louisa M. Shield, of Richmond, second vice-president; Dr. R. W. Miller, of Barton Heights, secretary and treasurer.

An able and interesting paper was read by Dr. W. W. Wilkerson, of La-Cross, on the hookworm disease. The paper was discussed by Dr. A. G. Brown and several others. Essays for next year were elected as follows: Dr. W. G. Hopkins, Richmond, in the medical section; Dr. Benjamin Bloxton, Richmond, in the dental section, and W. Lawrence Grymes, Alexandria, in the pharmaceutical section.

When the association adjourned to attend a reception to the graduating class and alumni in the residence of Dr. Stuart McGuire, president of the University College of Medicine.

This morning the exercises will be continued by clinics in the amphitheatre in the Virginia Hospital. The program is as follows: 9 o'clock, Dr. Alexander Brown, Norfolk, N. S. L. Lean; 10 o'clock, Dr. J. Garrett Nelson; 10:30, Dr. R. C. Bryan; 11, Dr. A. L. Gray; 11:30, Dr. T. W. Murrell; 12, Dr. Stuart McGuire; 12:30, Dr. Hugh M. Taylor.

A smoker will be tendered by the local alumni at the building of the University College of Medicine at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. A regular commencement exercises will be held in the John Marshall High School at 3:30 o'clock, when Major J. C. Hemphill, editor of The Times-Dispatch, will be the orator of the occasion.

After the commencement exercises a reception will be given to the graduates in the Westmoreland Club, and the session of 1909-'10 of the University College of Medicine will be at an end.

Following are some of the guests from out of Richmond who have been invited to the general exercises of their alma mater:

Dr. W. A. Jeffress, Fairfield, Va.
Dr. Clyde E. McDonald, New York.
Dr. H. G. Nicholson, Charleston, W. Va.

Dr. A. M. Greens, Abokie, N. C.
Dr. J. A. Richards, Winchester, Va.
Dr. H. D. Glimer, Elkton, Va.

Dr. R. D. Roller, Jr., Eades, Va.
Dr. C. C. Richards, Earlysville, Va.
Dr. N. A. Nicholson, Creeds, Va.

Dr. W. A. Stores, Portsmouth, Va.
Dr. W. J. Jones, Brookland, Va.
Dr. J. A. Richards, Winchester, N. C.

Dr. J. H. Winfrey, Glen Allen, Va.
Dr. R. L. Reynolds, Lexington, N. C.
Dr. Herbert W. Lewis, Brook Hill, Va.

Dr. M. J. Lewis, Culpeper, Va.
Dr. R. J. Payne, Fredericksburg, Va.
Dr. C. H. Davis, Williamsburg, Va.

Dr. E. C. Spencer, Washington, D. C.
Dr. F. C. Pratt, Fredericksburg, Va.
Dr. E. E. L. Miller, Luray, Va.

Dr. W. E. Broadus, Glen Allen, Va.
Dr. C. V. Montgomery, South Hill, Va.
Dr. J. D. Arbuckle, Cass, W. Va.

Dr. W. J. Chewing, Fredericksburg, Va.
Dr. Hunter H. McGuire, Winchester, Va.
Dr. Hugh McGuire, Alexandria, Va.

Dr. H. Fitzhugh White, Fishersville, Va.
Dr. H. M. Sneed, Fork Union, Va.
Dr. T. W. M. Long, Petersburg, Va.

Dr. J. W. Knapp, Roanoke, Va.
Dr. O. E. Hedrick, Aulseville, Va.
Dr. C. J. Seay, New York.

Dr. J. C. Anderson, Town's Brook, W. Va.
Dr. E. H. Cloud, Portsmouth, Va.
Dr. L. J. Roper, Portsmouth, Va.

Dr. William Pilcher, Petersburg, Va.
Dr. George D. Farrow, Flife, Va.
Dr. A. L. Tynes, Staunton, Va.

Dr. H. H. Fuller, Clover, Va.
Dr. Charles O. Boyce, Staunton, Va.
Dr. H. L. Smith, Charlottesville, Va.

Dr. D. C. Richards, Roanoke, Va.
Dr. L. Pruett, Danville, Va.
W. S. Lindsay, Petersburg, Va.

J. M. Lea, Danville, Va.
Miss Maude Lambert, Roanoke, Va.

For pure jollification, and nothing else, a number of members of the classes of '98 and '99 of the Medical College of Virginia, met last night in the Richmond Hotel. Old friendships were renewed and old matters discussed until a late hour over the broken meats of a most delightful feast. No governors of the feast were appointed, and there were no officers; it was merely a meeting together of old friends, and the physicians who have been practicing a decade enjoyed themselves most thoroughly.

To-day, after clinical demonstrations and other matters peculiarly attractive to the surgical mind, the Society of the Alumni of the Medical College of Virginia will meet for the annual business session. The meeting will be held in Chemistry Hall in the old college building. At 8 o'clock this evening the adjunct smoker will be held.

To-morrow morning the Society of the Alumni will meet for the scientific session. At 10:30 the Alumni Association will hear an address by Simon Baruch on the "Therapeutic Lessons from Half a Century's Practice." After the address the association will have luncheon in the pathological laboratory.

At 3:30 o'clock the commencement exercises of the college will be held, the address being delivered then by President Lyon G. Tyler, of Williams and Mary College.

SEWER INSPECTOR WAS NOT ON JOB

Committee Recommends That All Work Be Done Hereafter by Contract.

AVOID DUAL RESPONSIBILITY

Total Cost of Three Breaks Less Than 2 Per Cent. of Cost of Sewer.

Councilman C. P. Davis, for a subcommittee consisting of himself, Alderman Zimmermann and Councilman Lynch, reported to the Council Committee on Streets last night on the causes of the defects in the recently constructed Broad Street sewer, placing the blame on Inspector H. S. Atkinson and Assistant City Engineer Jackson Bolton, in charge of the work, and placing the cost of the repairs and excavations at $464.95 the total cost of the sewer having been approximately $22,000.

The report states that there were three breaks in all—two between Second and Third, which were discovered and had been remedied before the committee was named, and the third, which the committee examined, at First and Broad, where the trench was approximately twenty feet deep.

The report states that the committee is of the opinion that Inspector Atkinson did not properly inspect the work, and that the inspector was not on the job. The importance of careful supervision of the pipe-laying force.

Further, that Jackson Bolton, engineer in charge of sewers, did not give personal attention to the construction work or see to it that his inspector was continually on the job. The break at First Street, which the committee examined, is stated to have been caused by the sewer pipe not having been properly joined.

The subcommittee recommends that the city discontinue its present policy of contracting for the trenching and filling, and laying its own pipe, as that custom leads to a dual responsibility between the city pipe-laying force and the contracting contractor, the committee recommending that the work hereafter be let by contract as a whole, and the contractor be held under bond for the success of the work.

The committee further reported that the work of inspection is of too great importance to be left to miscellaneous paid men, and that an inspector should not be expected to look after several jobs at the same time.

City Engineer Bolling concurred in the main in the findings of the subcommittee. He stated that he thought the inspector had been negligent in not seeing that the pipe had been properly joined, and also that the contractor had not properly filled the trenches, especially in the tunnels, saying that he had himself seen where the pipe had buckled because the tunnels had not been properly refilled above the pipe line.

Mr. Bolling said that he thought that, however much to blame the inspector might have been, it was just as much incumbent on the contractor to carry on the work in proper manner as if there had been no inspector at all.

Bolling Had Many Duties. Mr. Bolling did not fully agree as to the culpability of Assistant Engineer Jackson Bolton, who, he said, had been charged with the care of the sewerage system of the city since 1871, and who had efficiently performed his duties.

Many sewers, he explained, were being built by bond issue and otherwise, and he thought that Mr. Bolton had to rely on his inspectors. There were as many as ten or twelve different sewers under construction at that time, and it was manifestly impossible for the engineer in charge to see that the trenches of each were properly refilled.

"I think the inspector had the opportunity to see," said Mr. Bolling, "but I do not think that Mr. Bolton was negligent."

"I fully endorse the recommendations as to the employment of careful inspectors. The city should have a trained force of capable men to see that this work is properly performed. The man on this job had been a laborer; he was employed on a per diem basis for the job at $2.50 per day, and did not seem to realize his responsibilities. We should have trained men employed for the month who could be held accountable."

Mr. Davis, for the subcommittee, said that the inspector had testified that when the section under First Street was laid he was absent on some other job, and the subcommittee therefore had not recommended his discharge.

"We think," he added, "that Mr. Bolton, as the engineer in charge, should have seen that there was an inspector on the job."

The report of the subcommittee was forwarded to the Council with a statement that the cost of the sewer and of the repairs, which show that the total cost of repairing the breaks was less than 2 per cent. of the cost of the sewer.

Qualifications in Chancery. James T. Lewis qualified yesterday in the Chancery Court as administrator of the estate of Maria Camillo. The estate is valued at $7,000.

James Jordan qualified as guardian of Samuel L. Jordan.

You will Surely Agree Remember the Name G. M. CO'S OLD STYLE PEARL IC Stamped in the Tin

That a good roof is most essential and most economical; therefore give special attention and see that specifications call for PEARL I. C. Roofing Tin.

GORDON METAL CO. Fourteenth and Dock Sts., Richmond, Va.

One Dozen Heavy Gold Plated SAFETY PINS SMITH & WEBSTER 612 E. Main St. 25 CENTS

Post-Office Robbers. When Mr. O'Keefe referred to the city jail, Sergeant Satterfield said: "That was the old one," whereas a laugh went around. "Anyway," said the snacker, "I believe the governwill find our establishment a satisfactory one to supply everything necessary in the way of wearing apparel—Clothing, Furnishing Goods and Hats in the most correct styles. We solicit a visit of inspection.

Convention Delegates

Gans-Rady Company

WARM DISCUSSION OF COMMISSION PLAN

East and West End Citizens Confer on Modern City Problems—Blake Scores Pollock and Wise—Council Government Criticized.

Splitted indeed was the discussion over the commission form of government for Richmond, and widely different were the views advanced as to the form a reorganized governing body should take, at the conference between the Clay Ward Annex League and the East End Citizens' Association, of Marshall Ward. This meeting was held last night in the toolhouse at Chimborazo Park, being well attended, as all such gatherings are in that section of the city.

No definite action was taken, but it was generally agreed that such an interchange of views was an earnest of better things, and that gatherings should be held from time to time to weigh conditions and to discuss plans.

Among the enlightening remarks was an exceedingly plain statement regarding the Pollock-Wise matter, made by George McD. Blake, one of the Democratic nominees for the City Council from Monroe Ward. "Common sense," he said, "should have told them that they ought to resign their seats in the City Council." He did not think there should be a law which would allow an attorney to earn a fee in such a manner, and, in fact, he did not believe there was such a law.

He said that he held the belief that a city when the matter came up he would not have voted for a committee of investigation. "Had I done it," he said, "they would have put me in the penitentiary, and I don't think it is right that lawyers should be allowed to act in this way."

Wants Small Body. Major Hunston Cary made the principal speech for a commission form of government in cities. He declared the existing plan to be a failure, relating his own experiences in the Council to show its impracticability. He thought a commission of three or five men would perhaps be the best.

Vigorous opposition to a commission plan was voiced by Alderman E. Douglas Richardson, of Marshall Ward. He did not see how a small body could do the work of the present larger body, being done, and some of the wards, he pointed out, would be unrepresented.

A third view was expressed by City Sergeant John C. Satterfield, who wants a smaller body than at present, composed of perhaps twenty-four men, who should be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.

It was made plain that the Clay Ward Annex League had no particular plan to suggest, but only desired to urge that the city should have a commission of three or five men, who would be charged with the duty of use of their entire time. This would, he thought, be better than a commission. Mr. Blake's ideas ran along the same line.